How to play

Rules

Set up

1. One player is the Bank. Each player gets ₹1,500: two ₹500, four ₹100, one ₹50, one ₹20, two ₹10, one ₹5 and five ₹1.
2. Shuffle both card decks face down in the middle. Everyone starts on Brew Day.

On your turn

1. Roll two dice and move clockwise. Roll doubles and you go again. Three doubles in a row sends you straight to Excise Audit.
2. Each time you pass Brew Day, collect ₹200 from the Bank.
3. Land on an unowned taproom, distributor or utility and you may buy it at the printed price. If you pass, the Bank auctions it to the highest bidder.
4. Land on a square someone owns and pay them the rent on its title deed.
5. Land on Brewer's Luck or Market Day, take the top card, do what it says and put it at the bottom.
6. Excise Duty and Licence Renewal are paid to the Bank.

Growing your brewery

1. Own every taproom in a colour set and rent doubles. Then you can build taprooms, one per square at a time, keeping the set even.
2. With 3 taprooms on a square you can upgrade to a brewpub: pay the price and return the 3 taprooms to the Bank.
3. Short of cash? Mortgage a square for half its price. No rent is due on it until you pay back the mortgage plus 10 per cent.

Excise Audit

1. Licence Lapsed, three doubles or a card can send you to Excise Audit. Do not collect ₹200 on the way.
2. To leave, pay ₹50, use a keep card or roll doubles. After three failed turns you must pay ₹50 and move.
3. Landing on Excise Audit by a normal roll means you are just visiting.

Winning

If you cannot pay what you owe, you are out and everything you own goes to whoever you owe. The last brewery standing wins. For a shorter game, stop after an agreed time: the richest player, counting cash, square prices and buildings, wins.
